Council Prefers Centrally Located High School to No School at All

by Al Skolnik

The city council made clear at last Monday's meeting that it did not take the same extreme position as the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board with respect to the location of a senior high school in Greenbelt. The GHI board, at its Dec. 9 meeting, had passed a resolution stating, in effect, that if the choice boils down to a senior high school on parcel 2 (between GHI property and Baltimore-Washington Parkway) or no high school in Greenbelt, it would prefer the latter. The GHI board feared that location of a senior high school on parcel 2 would seriously undercut the Greenbelt Master Plan and the goals of low-density development and minimum traffic congestion.

While agreeing with the GHI board that the preferred site for the high school would be the Beltway-Lake site, the council in a motion stated that it wanted a senior high school in Greenbelt and that the school should be located in an area bounded by the Capital Beltway, Greenbelt Rd., Baltimore-Washington Parkway, Beltsville farm, and Kenilworth Ave.

Councilman Francis White made the motion which was supported by Councilmen Dave Champion and Dick Pilski. Mayor Edgar Smith and Councilman Bill Hoff voted to table the motion on the grounds that its timing was inappropriate. Both stated that they wanted a senior high school in Greenbelt, but felt that the preferable approach would be for the council to sit down with GHI and CFPD and resolve any differences in position.

Pilski and Champion, however, felt that unless the council took action, the impression would be left that the GHI board was speaking for the entire community.

A question was raised from the floor as to why the motion limited the boundaries for the location of the school. Such a limitation excludes other sites within Greenbelt's city boundaries that have been mentioned at one time or another such as the Smith-Ewing property and the site west of Kenilworth Ave. near the present city warehouse. Champion replied that he wanted to make sure that the school would be within walking distance of the great majority of Greenbelt students.

Bresler Denied

The council voted to deny a request from the developer, Charles Bresler, for permission not to pave Ivy Lane between Ridge Road and Hedgewood Drive in Boxwood Village. Bresler's request was based on the fact that the council had recently approved a plan for relocating Crescent Rd. which would close Ivy Lane, as a through street.

The vote was 3 to 2, with Smith, Hoff, and Pilski in the majority. Hoff noted that the plans for relocating Crescent Rd. are dependent on the extension of Kenilworth Ave. which may not take place for another 5 years, according to present State Roads Commission plans. In the meantime, Ivy Lane would become impassable. Smith and Pilski stated their fear that the city might be stuck with the cost of paving Ivy Lane if a decision is later made to make Ivy Lane a through street.

Beltway Traffic Light

An exchange of city correspondence with SRC and the Giant Food Store indicates that plans for a Beltway Plaza traffic light are rapidly moving forward. SRC has approved the location of a 2-phase light at Greenbelt Rd. and 62nd Ave., with left-turn signals for easterly traffic. Giant will bear the full cost of installation ($7150) and the city will bear a $100 annual maintenance cost plus the cost of electrical energy. The city manager was asked to pursue with Berwyn Heights the possibility of the latter sharing costs. The council commended the Jaycees who, through a committee headed by Hal Siegal, had been tireless in their efforts to bring a light to Beltway Plaza.

Parkland

The parkland acquisition program took another step forward as the council directed the city manager to initiate purchase negotiations with the owners of the land surrounding Greenbelt Lake, based on the value of the appraisals received by the city. The manager was also authorized to inform the county commissioners of this decision so as to preclude any further zoning activity in connection with the land.

The council gave final approval to its application for a Federal grant of $167,575 to assist in the city purchase of the parkland. The application as approved contains modifications suggested by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Administrator.

Memorials Committee

The council received a report from the Special Memorials Committee which had been set up to seek suitable memorialization of the late Rev. Robert Hull and the Rev. Charles Strausburg. The committee, composed of James Cassels, James McCarl, Benjamin Rosenzweig, James Wolfe, and Kenneth Wyatt, suggested that a memorial fund be set up which could be used for service awards to persons who have made major contributions to the community, such awards to be presented at annual community dinners. The fund could also be used to satisfy unmet needs in the community. A board of nine trustees would administer the fund. The fund would be financed through community contributions.

Annex NASA

Pilski proposed and the council concurred that the city initiate discussions for the annexation of the Goddard Space Flight Center. Such a proposal had been made in 1963 but became bogged down over questions involving the city personal property tax. NASA had generally been receptive to the idea.

Tid-bits

Council will meet with Springhill Lake developer and Greenhome and O'Mara to consider road problems within that development. . . . Council has been extended invitation to attend dedication of Glenarden Municipal Hall on Saturday, Jan. 15. . . . Council has also been invited to visit Senior Citizen Center in Silver Spring. A similar Center has been suggested for Greenbelt.

ZONING AMENDMENTS

A public hearing on 4 proposed amendments submitted by MNCPPC to the Zoning Ordinance for Prince Georges County has been scheduled by the Commissioners for Jan. 13, at 10 a.m. at the Court-house.

The first of the proposed amendments, would redefine zoning regulations for nursery schools and kindergartens.

The other 3 proposed amendments would provide for "cluster" development for towns or neighborhoods.

City Notes

"Citizens serving on the various advisory boards to the City Council will now be more comfortable in giving their time" — with those words City Manager James K. Giese summed up the effect of lots and lots of new chairs in the municipal Building. The council room, the council office, the meeting room, and the downstairs offices all have a newer, brighter look with the colorful new chairs.

From now on council members will hold forth at public meetings, enthroned upon wooden swivel chairs with upholstery in a gold color. The mayor's chair is identical, but with a higher back. The three city officials—manager, assistant manager, and city clerk—will have matching chairs with blue upholstery. All upholstery is a heavy nylon-wool blend with a tight weave.

In the council office there are seven new armchairs, around the conference table, two armless chairs, and one swivel chair behind the desk. All have blue upholstery like those in the council chamber. (The council office is used for executive sessions of council and for small meetings.)

Fourteen armchairs with metal frames, upholstered in green, have been placed in the meeting room, where citizen advisory boards are scheduled. In addition, there are six matching armless chairs.

Four new armchairs, in dark green and brown have been added to the city manager's office. Eight armless chairs in naugahyde—four white and four brown—have been distributed among the other offices.

These new chairs replace a large group of old and decrepit chairs that have been in use till now. At the present, all surplus chairs have been placed in the warehouse to be disposed of later.

The public works department also has something new—a "tar kettle." Actually the new equipment called by this name is a $700 trailer with a butane gas heater and a drum. Liquid asphalt in this drum can be heated to the desired temperature and used for sealing cracks in the streets in a more satisfactory manner. Since delivery of the tar kettle last week, city workers have been sealing cracks on Ridge Road and elsewhere in the North End.

Water seepage in the driveway behind the Municipal Building damaged the pavement in several places. To take care of the problem, maintenance workers dug out the damaged pavement and repaved the area.

School Sites Reshuffled; Perimeter Road Eliminated

The County Board of Education at its meeting on Tuesday, Jan. 11, reaffirmed its decision to acquire land between Baltimore-Washington Parkway and Greenbelt Homes Inc. property for a 3-school complex and reshuffled the school sites on parcels 1 and 2 so as to make it virtually impossible for Greenbelt to have a perimeter road, as called for in the Greenbelt and MNCPPC Master Plans. Charles Bresler, part owner of the land, who was present at the meeting, concurred in the decision, provided he was assured of road access to his remaining property. The purchase would involve 58.4 acres at an average price of $8,000 per acre.

Adult Education Classes

Registration for classes offered by the Prince Georges County Board of Education through the Adult Education Program will be held on Monday evening, Jan. 17, from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m., at the various centers. (Evening center - Greenbelt Junior High; day centers, Greenbelt Co-op Hospitality Room, Greenbelt Methodist Church, Springhill Lake Community House.)

Enrollment is limited to people 16 years of age or over who are not regularly attending day school programs below the college level.

Courses are offered in arts and crafts, Braille, business education, citizenship, developmental reading, health education, home economics, industrial education, and language. Other classes are: Introduction to Modern Mathematics for Parents; Introduction to Space Science; Basic English Skill Development; Lip Reading for Hearing-Impaired Adults; Older Persons as Community Leaders; General Principles of Insurance; Small Boat Handling and Safety; and Basic Reading, Writing, and Arithmetic.

Classes will be organized if fifteen or more persons enroll in a specific course.

Additional information concerning fees, courses, and other day and evening centers may be obtained from Russell F. Olson, Supervisor of Adult Education, Board of Education office, Upper Marlboro, Maryland; telephone: 627-4800.

New plans presented by the board staff revealed that the senior high school and elementary school would be located off Northway extended with the high school next to the sanitary landfill and the elementary school close to Ridge. (Originally, the elementary school was slated for Hamilton place and the senior high school for the southern side of Northway). The junior high school, originally placed between Plateau and Northway, would now be located on Hamilton place. All the three schools are now located in parcel 2 in one large tract.

Elliot Robertson, staff engineer, in explaining the reasons for the switch, stated (1) the separation of the junior and senior high schools would have the traffic distributed between two roads; and (2) placement of elementary school on Northway would be closer to the area the school would serve and would involve less dirt removal than a senior high school on that site.

Greenbelt city manager James K. Giese pointed out that the switch in school sites would rule out the construction of a perimeter road since the road would have to cut through school property. Bresler commented that MNCPPC plans for a perimeter road were not firmed up.

Board members Louise Yuill and Blanche Van de Ree expressed concern over the traffic problem, noting that elementary school children will be walking in the same area that senior high school students would go "hot rodding." Board member Eugene O'Brien, however, pointed out that the elementary and junior high schools would not be constructed until a later date and that it was the responsibility of the city to provide sidewalks. Superintendent of Schools William S. Schmidt said that school hours could be staggered so as to minimize the problem.

Greenbelters Protest

Giese reiterated the city council's preference for the Beltway-Lake site for the senior high school and was joined in these sentiments by Roy Breashears, speaking on behalf of Greenbelt Homes, Inc.

Greenbelt resident Elaine Skolnik referred to earlier statements by the city council and GHI which indicated that the gap in price between the high school site on parcel 2 and that at the Beltway-Lake site narrowed considerably when all the cost factors are considered. She asked if the board had documented any comparison figures.

The board said no, but indicated that they were concerned that they could not justify to the taxpayers the additional cost of the Beltway-Lake site. They said that they had to think of the rest of the county. School president W. Carroll Beatty said that the Board could not disclose the appraisal value of the Beltway Lake site. Board member Thomas Hicks than asked Bresler what he wanted for the land. Bresler said he would not ask less than $30,000 an acre. (Schmidt in a letter of December 3 to city council stated that the price of land adjacent to the Beltway-Lake site was $18,000 per acre.) Mrs. Skolnik mentioned that the land acquisition costs were but a small part of the entire cost and that Federal funds would pay for the plant.

Young Adult's Club Meeting

The Young Adults' Club of St. Hugh's Church will hold their monthly meeting on Sunday, Jan. 16 at 10:30 a.m. in the Church hall. All those wishing to join the ski trip should attend this meeting.

By-passing the Community

The latest meeting of the County Board of Education on January 11 again illustrates the low regard the Board has for the opinions and the rights of the Greenbelt citizenry. No official notice was given the city council of the meeting which was to take up the latest proposals of the developer for school sites in Greenbelt.

Decisions concerning the location of the proposed schools are being made entirely by the Board of Education and the developer. The community of Greenbelt, which has by far the largest stake in this matter, has been effectively shut out of the decision-making process.

Our roads will have to bear the increased traffic the schools will generate from other areas, with the increased road hazards involved. The cost of road improvements will have to be borne by the citizens of Greenbelt. Yet only lip service has been paid to expressions of our needs and desires, as recent events have amply demonstrated.

There is something very wrong with a system of local government which can bypass the wishes of a municipality on a matter which is so clearly the municipality's concern.

An 'Odd' Situation

To the Editor:

At last Monday's meeting, the city council discussed a recent resolution adopted by the Greenbelt Homes, Inc. board of directors which, in its efforts to emphasize the seriousness of the senior high school crises, used some strong language to the effect that if the choice boiled down to a school on parcel 2 or no school at all, it would just as soon have the latter.

In clarifying its own position on the matter, the council expressed concern that the GHI board position might be misinterpreted as the position of the city. Individual councilmen also appeared sensitive to the implications that its prerogatives had been encroached upon by GHI and that somehow GHI had not shown the proper respect for the council by taking unilateral action.

At the same meeting, the city manager informed the council of a county board of education meeting scheduled the next day with the developer Mr. Bresler to discuss school sites in Greenbelt. He stated that he only learned of the meeting at the last minute through information furnished him by a private citizen.

Yet not one councilman got up to express his concern over the lack of respect shown the council by the board. Not one councilman got up to deplore the fact that the city council had never received official word of a meeting which was to have such far-reaching effects as to completely disrupt the Greenbelt Master Plan, including the elimination of the perimeter road.

It does seem odd that the council, on the one hand, can accept with indifference the cavalier treatment accorded it by an official body (the board of education) with which it has major differences, but on the other hand, seize upon some minor differences with the GHI board to, in effect, issue a public reprimand.

It seems obvious to me that all the GHI board was trying to do was to strengthen the position of the council and put some backbone into the council. In the light of the latest slap in the face from the county board of education, it would seem that the council policy should be directed at unifying, rather than antagonizing, its supporters.

Mother Chides 'Mother of 8'

To the Editor:

I would like to tell "mother of eight" that the Greenbelt Rescue Squad has come to my aid MANY times over the last few years, summoned by your so-called "electronic monster." When my family heard the siren it was a welcome sound because we knew the friendly help of these dedicated men was on the way.

If this "monster" is the worst thing your children hear they are fortunate indeed. I'm sure a mother so gifted with words can explain this sound to her eight children.

One thing more. My 16-year-old son is a junior member of the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Dept. and Rescue Squad. He wants to help others as I have been helped. Of this I am very proud.

Mrs. Joan Tatum

Siren is Called a Necessity

To the Editor:

In regards to the letter to the Editor about the "electronic monster," I would like to state my opinions to this "mother of eight."

The so-called electronic monster is a necessity to the community. The men of the Rescue Squad don't really love being awakened in the middle of the night by the siren either. They must go into the cold of winter to help someone in trouble, and they are in danger.

Do you think that siren would reassure you if someone in your family was dying or your house was on fire, or would you feel the same? Stop and think.

If your whole family is awakened, why not make use of it and talk your husband into joining the fire department? We can sure use another man. And why don't you remind your eight children, one of their friends may be dying. It might work.

That siren blew at least 120 times last year, and helped keep the county's fire loss per capita down low.

We have bought a lot of equipment for service to the community, and a letter such as yours doesn't help matters. We want Greenbelters to be so proud of their fire department that when you have visitors and the siren blows you can say "There goes the Greenbelt Volunteer Fire Department and Rescue Squad, going to help someone, somewhere."

Richard Tatum

Junior Member, GVFDERS

Thanks

To the Editor:

I should like to publicly express my gratitude to Mr. John Mullican of Radiant Valley and his two companions who noticed, stopped, and looked after my two-year-old son who had wandered to the Beltway. Also, I extend my thanks and appreciation to Officer Reamy of the Greenbelt Police Department for his calm tact and understanding toward this very fearful mother.

Crime and Law Enforcement Both Showed Increases in '65

by Dorothy Sucher

Greenbelt police activities increased during 1965 compared with the previous year, according to Police Chief William Lane, who is compiling his annual report. Lane attributes the increase to three main causes: rising population, heavier traffic, and more vigorous enforcement resulting from a greater number of experienced officers in the Greenbelt Police Department.

The department now employs 12 officers, of whom two are still on probation. In July 1964, when Lane became Greenbelt's police chief, there were only six. Four more were hired during 1964, bringing the total by the end of the year to 11 (including the chief). Seven, however, were still on probation, 6 of them had had no previous police experience.

The statistics for 1965 are based upon 670 reports submitted by individual officers and do not include calls of a minor nature requiring little or no follow-up, which are simply entered in the department's daily log.

The statistics for 1964 are incomplete, especially for the earlier part of the year before the new chief took office.

Juvenile Delinquency

More departmental time was devoted to cases involving juveniles during 1965 than to any other general area, since, even when no arrest is made, officers spend a great deal of time talking to parents.

"Juvenile contacts" totalled 220 during 1965 (compared with 62 the previous year), including 132 handled within the department (juveniles released with a warning, released in parental custody, etc.). Of the remainder, 83 were referred to juvenile court; 3 to other police agencies for violations committed outside Greenbelt; and 2 to criminal or adult courts.

Most juvenile offenses involved violation of the liquor laws, primarily possession of alcohol by persons under the age of 21. When subdivided by age, statistics show 16-year-olds leading the list (15 boys and 12 girls), with 17-year-olds next in frequency (14 boys and 7 girls). The youngest offenders were 13 years old (4 girls and 1 boy).

Chief Lane commented: "The community definitely has a problem of permitting underage persons to possess alcohol. Parental supervision of parties is inadequate, and some parents appear to condone the use of alcohol by juveniles."

Some of the other juvenile offenses were: breaking and entering (16); larceny and theft (23); and vandalism (17). Seven runaways were reported in 1965.

By way of comparison, there were 3318 "burglaries" reported in Prince Georges county during the first 10 months of 1965; at the same rate, about 120 crimes of this sort could be expected in Greenbelt. The county also reports 2834 cases of assault, about 6 times Greenbelt's rate.

Adult Arrests

Criminal arrests totalled 215 in 1965, compared with 140 in 1964, the leading categories being drunkenness (39), disorderly conduct (45), and violation of the liquor laws (primarily possession of alcohol by persons between the ages of 18 and 21). Fifteen arrests were made for driving under the influence of alcohol.

Breaking and entering, larceny, and theft accounted for 13 arrests, and assaults for 15. An additional 60 arrests are listed under "other offenses," which excludes traffic violations but includes, for example, violation of various city ordinances such as those prohibiting dogs from running loose.

Arts and Crafts

The very popular Arts and Crafts program is offered each Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday afternoon at 3:30 p.m. and Saturday mornings at 10 a.m. Creative projects and experimentation in development are the by-words. This program is open to all children from the first grade up. A slight fee for materials is charged.

Basketball

In the Men's "A" League, National Security Agency upset Government Printing Office to move into a tie for first place with Colonial Real Estate. Games are played each Thursday at the Center Elementary School Gym. Tonight's games pit G.P.O. against Goddard Flight Center at 7 p.m. and Colonial Real Estate vs. Vince's Restaurant at 8:15 p.m. League standings are as follows:

	W	L
Colonial Real Estate	2	1
National Security Agency	2	1
Goddard Space Flight Center	1	1
Government Printing Office	1	1
Vince's Restaurant	0	2

In the Men's "B" League, the Knicks knocked off the high flying Bullets 67-58 as Banner's 20 points paced the winners. Kelly hit for 22 points for the losers. The Lakers moved into second place with a 91-52 drubbing of the Celtics. Gary Brown's 30 points led the way for the victors, as Jim Sines scored 16 points for the last place Celtics. League standings are as follows:

	W	L
Bullets	5	2
Lakers	4	3
Knicks	3	4
Celtics	2	5

Next week's schedule, the Celtics vs. Bullets at 7:30 p.m. and the Knicks vs. the Lakers at 8:30 p.m.

The Police Blotter

Chief William Lane reports a quiet week. A case of suspected larceny occurred Jan. 6 at Lakeside North. Police found no signs of forced entry, but items reported missing from one of the apartments totalled approximately $208 in value.

Police questioned two suspects regarding the theft of approximately $100 worth of tools from a truck parked at the Springhill Lake development. No signs of forced entry were found.

Officers John Krob and Paul Reamy were commended last week by two citizens who wrote appreciative letters to Chief Lane. One letter stated in part: "With the public so ready to complain about the conduct of public servants, it strikes me as only fair that an ordinary citizen express appreciation on
